

Financial Services Guide

A guide to our relationship with you

20 February 2025

Not independent

Financial Index Wealth Accountants (FIWA) the trading name of Financial Index Australia Pty Ltd is not independent, impartial or unbiased in relation to the provision of personal advice to a retail client, because:

- Your adviser follows an approved product list (APL) and an off-APL approval process, as explained in section 2 of the FSG; and
- FIWA has associations with related and nonrelated entities as described in section 7 of this FSG; and
- Your adviser or FIWA may receive (as referred to in sections 6 and 7 of this FSG):
 - Commissions
 - Brokerage
 - Gifts or non-monetary benefits of less than $300 in value from each product provider, each year

It's important to understand that disclosing our lack of independence and detailing our remuneration structure does not reduce our obligation to act in your best interests. FIWA Financial Advisers are required by law to provide financial advice that meets ethical standards and the obligations set out in the Corporations Act to act in the best interests of each client.

3. Providing instructions to your financial adviser

You may provide specific instructions to your financial adviser by letter, email, telephone, fax or other means as agreed. If you provide your financial adviser with instructions via email or telephone, your financial adviser may request a signed instruction in order to confirm your authority.

4. Fee/commissions that may apply

FIWA is paid by fees or commissions or a combination of both, depending on the service we provide and product you invest in. We will tell you about any payments and other benefits we receive as a result of preparing and implementing your financial plan. We will include the information in our advice to you, or as soon as practicable afterwards. Product Disclosure Statements (PDSs) also contain more detail on the fees that the product provider will receive.

If we can, we will tell you the exact amount. If we don't know that when we advise you, we will explain how the payments (including commission) and any other benefits are calculated.

If you have been introduced to us by a professional third party— we may pay an introductory fee or commission rebate to that third party. That introductory fee or commission rebate would be calculated according to various factors which may include the number or size of referrals. Where we pay a fee or a commission for a referral, we fully disclose to you who will receive that fee or commission and the amount they receive.

You can always ask for more information about payment arrangements, including information about the range of amounts or rates of remuneration. Even if personal advice is not given to you, you can request this information within a reasonable time of receiving the FSG and before any financial service is provided to you.

FIWA advisers are paid a salary. They may also receive a bonus if they achieve certain performance standards for quality, compliance and productivity.

Initial Appointment

The initial appointment is at our cost and doesn't oblige you to do anything.

Strategy fees

Commonly there is a fee for developing a strategy for you. This may be an agreed initial advice fee or an agreed fee for further advice at any other time you require us to undertake this on your behalf. The fee amount depends on the complexity of your situation and will be agreed prior to us undertaking the work. We will invoice you for the work once the strategy has been presented to you.

Ongoing fees

Ongoing advice and administration services may be provided to you to ensure the strategy and products recommended continue to meet your needs, objectives and financial situation.

If your adviser is involved with you on an ongoing basis we will generally charge you ongoing fees for advice and for portfolio construction and management.

Fees may be fixed or linked to the value of your portfolio. A combination of the two is not uncommon.

Example of a fixed fee arrangement:

You may wish to agree to a fixed fee with your adviser. This could be $5000 per annum or an amount that you agree upon depending on the complexity of advice.

Example of a % based fee arrangement:

This could be 1% per annum of the value of your portfolio which is charged monthly on the average daily portfolio value.

Assuming a constant average daily portfolio value of $500,000 this fee would be $417 each month.

The fee component will be agreed upon with you prior to provision of advice and will be stated in your Client Service Agreement and/or SoA. We will continue to charge the agreed ongoing fee until you notify us that our services are no longer required.

Brokerage fee

FIWA may receive commissions in relation to facilitating share trades through our preferred brokers. If you receive personal advice, more detailed information about fees, commissions or other benefits will be contained in your SoA.

Risk insurance fees and commissions

For risk insurance products, you may be charged an administration service fee of up to 45% of the insurance premium or for new insurance policies placed from 1 January 2020, FIWA will accept:

- Upfront commission (excl. GST) of up to 60% and/or
- Trail commission of up to 20% (excl. GST) per annum

Our fees may be deducted from your policy each month or payable directly to us.

All fees and commissions will be detailed in your SoA and you must give us signed approval before we will proceed to implement your plan.

Alternatively, some of our advisers will rebate this commission and charge you an agreed set fee instead. That agreed fee will be calculated based on the complexity of the work and the amount of time required by the planner to give the advice and/or implement it. The fee will be agreed with you prior to advice being provided and be disclosed in the advice document.

For example, if your premium for life insurance is $1,000 in the first year and then $1,100 each year thereafter, we may levy an administration fee of up to $450 in the first year and up to $495 each year after this.

Full details of fees and commissions will be provided in your SoA.

Product Issuer and Wrap Provider Fees

Any commissions that FIWA may receive from providers of investment and wrap products will be rebated back to you.

Execution Service

If we arrange for you to purchase an investment on which we have not provided advice, we may charge a fee for carrying out your instructions. This may be either a flat fee or be based on a percentage of the value of the transaction with a minimum charge. The fee will be agreed with you in advance.

Mandate fees

Whilst this fee may initially be received by Findex, it is fully passed onto the respective mandate manager. In the rare event, that a manager may need to be replaced we may elect to internalise the management within Findex for a period of time. In such instances Findex will continue to charge you the mandate manager fee and retain this fee. We will notify you in such instances should this occur.

5. Our process in helping you achieve your goals

You need to provide us with your personal details, goals and objectives, your current financial situation and any other relevant information we may ask of you so that we can offer you advice most appropriate to your circumstances. If you do not do so, the advice may be inappropriate to your needs. You may, by agreement, instruct your adviser to limit the scope of the advice you are seeking.

We ask that you carefully read the information (and any warnings) contained in the Statement of Advice provided to you before making any decision relating to a financial product.

Because managing risk is a critical element of sound financial planning we will, where possible, explain the risks involved in any financial products and/or strategies we recommend.

Understanding and managing risk centres on a two-part process known as the risk/return trade-off.

1. Do the strategies and investment recommendations have the capacity to meet your financial objectives?
2. Are you prepared for the volatility (up and down swings in the market) or changes to the economic or regulatory environment that can negatively impact on your plans?

The two concepts can be quite different. On the one hand you may have significant financial capacity to take on risk but little emotional tolerance for it. On the other hand you may have significant appetite to take on risk but little financial capacity to absorb adverse market volatility or regulatory change. The risks need to be very carefully considered (and understood) before proceeding.

The FIWA advice process measures your risk profile as a reference point in order to minimise glaringly inappropriate asset allocation or strategies. In portfolio construction, we use sophisticated probability modelling tools to try and predict portfolio outcomes that are likely to meet your performance objectives relative to your risk tolerance. If the two were incompatible, we would need to agree with you to raise your risk tolerance and/or scale back your objectives.

Except under special circumstances permitted by FIWA and agreed with you, FIWA does not allow its advisers to:

- Act as a trustee or operate a trust account on behalf of clients;
- Hold a Power of Attorney (other than LifeFocus or Portfolio Solutions specific authorities or via a Limited Power of Attorney in relation solely to the provision of rebalancing portfolios);
- Hold funds or have access to withdraw client funds;
- Act on behalf of another Australian Financial Services Licensee unless dual authority is permitted by both Licensees; or
- Ask clients to sign documents, which have not been fully completed with your details, and carrying instructions approved by you.

FIWA ensures its advisers:

- Are only authorised to provide services to you where appropriate qualifications are held;
- Remain up to date with relevant industry and legislative changes to maintain advice credentials and capabilities;
- Are provided with appropriate support and tools to provide technically compliant financial advice;
- Are provided with high quality financial product research; and
- Are monitored and supervised to ensure they comply with the requirements of the law and FIWA's standards.

6. Information you need to know about acting as an external MDA adviser

In broad terms, a Managed Discretionary Account (MDA) is an arrangement that involves an MDA provider managing a portfolio of assets for you on a segregated basis – that is, the client's assets are not pooled with other clients' assets. This may include arrangements that are commonly marketed in the industry as separately managed accounts, investment advisory programs, and managed discretionary portfolio services and discretionary portfolio accounts.

FIWA has access to its internal MDA provider being Findex Advice Services Pty Ltd

(FAS).

Through FAS, your financial adviser is able to manage client portfolios using a discretionary service ('MDA services').

Typically model portfolios, together with any customisation, form the basis of an Investment Program. The Investment Program, which is a schedule to the MDA Contract you enter with FAS, constitutes the instructions for the implementation of your Managed Account Service.

If you choose to invest via the MDA service, your financial adviser will recommend an Investment Program containing an investment strategy. Your financial adviser will also consider whether that Investment Program should be customised to better suit your needs. FAS will ensure that the Investment Program that it implements for you is what has been agreed by you. Your financial adviser will be responsible for reviewing your Investment Program at least annually to ensure it remains suitable for you.

FAS will work with your financial adviser, who is also acting on your behalf, to ensure that any investment formulated for you is in accordance with the MDA contract between yourself and FAS.

MDA Contract and Investment Program

As the MDA provider, FAS has the following responsibilities:

- Validation (analytics) of each Investment Program to be implemented;
- Annual Review reminder, reminding your financial adviser to conduct an annual review meeting with you regarding your MDA arrangements, suitability and Investment Program;
- Providing you with quarterly and annual reports which include information regarding the transactions undertaken on your behalf, holdings, valuation and revenue and expenses incurred during the period;
- Periodic rebalancing of your portfolio, at least annually, for existing monies and within reasonable days of receipt of new monies or a withdrawal request (subject to market and regulatory conditions).

The Investment Program and/or SoA (prepared by your financial adviser) will contain information on:

- Investment choice(s) recommended by your adviser and asset allocation weightings forming part of your Investment Program;
- The nature and scope of the discretions that FAS will be authorised and required to exercise;
- Any risks associated with the MDA Contract;
- The basis on which the MDA Contract is considered to be suitable for you; and warnings about the importance of any limitations relating to the MDA Contract which you must consider before signing it.

Further information in relation to MDA services and cost are available on the FAS

Financial Services Guide which you will be provided at the time of signing the contract.

7. Relationships or Associations

FIWA is owned by Findex Group Limited ABN 40 128 588 714 (Findex). Findex is one of Australia's largest privately owned providers of wealth, accounting, lending and risk protection advisory services. Findex has developed a proprietary system for identifying the individual needs of its clients and providing advice and services to meet those specific needs. As a result, it has solutions to suit Australians at every stage of their lives, delivered via Crowe Horwath, Findex Advice Services and Findex Lending Services. From time to time Findex will share client information between its divisions for the sole purpose of delivering an improved level of service and comprehensive financial solutions to its clients.

Findex holds a number of other Australian Financial Services Licenses including Findex Advice Services, ABN 88 090 684 521 AFSL No. 243253, which provides and operates Managed Discretionary Account (MDA) services. Findex Advice Services is a wholly owned subsidiary of Findex Group Limited ABN 40 128 588 714.

Specialised Private Capital Ltd (SPC) ABN 87 095 773 390 AFSL No. 246744 and Alliance Capital Management Pty Ltd (ACM) which is a Corporate Authorised Representative (Number 401978) of SPC both of which hold supplier agreements with a number of the financial product providers (including managed investment schemes and administration (wrap) platforms) that FIWA recommends to its clients, are a part of Findex. SPC receives payments and rebates from a number of those product providers.

Findex and its sub-entities hold exclusive distribution rights to LifeFocus, Portfolio Solutions eWrap and encircle platforms. These may be recommended to you if deemed appropriate to your circumstances and not in contravention of your best interests. These platform services have an independent Trustee and Custodian (Super/Pension) or independent Operator and Custodian (Investment) who supervise administration and approved investments. The approved investments are all provided by external professional Fund Managers or purchased directly on the ASX.

ACM is the promoter of the LifeFocus and Portfolio Solutions platforms and may retain a share of the total administration fee. Some of the fees go to external providers for funds management, portfolio administration services, trustee services, responsible entity services, custodial services and research and asset consulting. ACM may also receive rebates from fund managers, which are used to offset promotional activities. Any rebates are not expected to exceed 0.4% of invested funds.

Findex also has supplier agreements with a number of administrative platforms. We may receive additional payments for arrangements entered into prior to 1 July 2013.

These payments are usually based on the amount invested with the product provider. If the relevant products are recommended to you, more details about this arrangement will be provided in the SoA and your consent for such payments to be made will be required.

If you purchase or sell direct securities through us, we may receive a fee for these transactions. Details of which will be disclosed in your advice document.

Your financial adviser may also receive a range of other benefits from product providers such as marketing support or sponsorship, entertainment, conferences, accommodation and travel which will be disclosed in your SoA.

We maintain a public register outlining the forms of alternative remuneration that we both pay and receive. A copy of this register can be accessed upon request. Any of the payments listed above will be made to the extent permitted by law.
